JACK A. CHAPMAN

Private funeral services, conducted by the Rev. Charles L. Pendleton of Bethel, were held on Sunday at the Chapman Homestead in Gilead for Jack Appleton Chapman who died on Friday, November 12th, in Portland.

The son of William C. and Martha (Baldwin) Chapman, Mr. Chapman was born February 2nd, 1880, at the Chapman Homestead and there his boyhood was spent. He was educated at The Mitchell School for Boys in Billerica, Mass., and Hebron Academy, Hebron, Maine. It was at Hebron that his exceptional athletic talents were developed and where he became an outstanding tackle on a championship football team which smothered all secondary school competition and nearly beat the Bates College varsity team. His interest in sports generally and football in particular, continuing later in life, was keen and he was a frequent and ardent spectator at the State Series games here in Maine. Although he was offered a scholarship at Colby College for his athletic proficiency he decided to further his education at Gray's Business College in Portland.

Upon completion of his courses he became associated with his father in the business of farming and lumbering. From the start Mr. Chapman manifested exceptional executive ability in logging some of the most difficult tracts of this region in the days when the two-axled was the prime mover and long logs were landed on the streams by men who had a competitive pride in their calling. Upon the death of his father in 1927, Mr. Chapman ran his own farm where he and his son, Franklin S. Chapman, developed a herd of prize Hereford cattle that was shown yearly at fairs throughout the state.

On June 23rd, 1906, Mr. Chapman was married to Miss Jessie Sprout of Chillicothe, Ohio, who survives him. He is also survived by a daughter, Miss Annette Chapman; two sons, William C. Chapman II and Franklin S. Chapman, all of Bethel; two sisters, Miss Cecile Chapman and Mrs. Robert W. McCoy, of Gilead; four grandchildren, the Misses Mary-Jane Chapman, Betsey Chapman, and Carolyn Chapman, and Jack A. Chapman II; and several nieces and nephews.

The milestones of a man's life tell an incomplete story and it is reserved for those who knew him to remember Mr. Chapman as a fine Christian gentleman. The courage of a man who had met and beaten life's hardships, a graciousness and charm of manner, a quiet dignity made him a rare personality. He measured no man in terms of position or rank. In the finest American tradition all men were his fellows. His great capacity for friendship and a kindness in spirit and judgment made all who knew him turn to him as a true friend.

But perhaps only those closest to him knew Mr. Chapman's singular devotion to Christian ethics and strongly religious nature, the depth of feeling for those he loved, and his exceptional sense of humor and optimism. For his family and many friends his loss may be tempered by the knowledge that the greatness in a man never dies and that the things of the spirit are always present.

"And, therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; It tolls for thee."

Mrs. Arthur Ramadell is a patient at Franklin Memorial Hospital, Farmington.

Week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nary were Mrs. Patrick Joyce Worcester, Sheila Nary, and Dick Castrucci, all students at Nazarene College, Springfield.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

In trying to find our oldest citizen we learned that there are three people over 90 years of age living in the Town of Bethel.

According to our information, Mr. Valentine, Mechanic St., was 90 years old last March. Mrs. Swan, Philbrook St., will be celebrating her ninety-third birthday today, Nov. 18. Miss Edith Wilson, who lives in Mayville, is slightly older, having reached her ninety-third birthday last July.

It was a real pleasure to pass on the gold mounted cane to this fine old lady. It is interesting to note that all of these people were born at about the time of the Civil War and of course have seen many changes through the years. Miss Wilson, the only one I was privileged to talk with, is still very much interested in and aware of present day conditions. I regret we were able to award the cane to only one of these fine old people. We certainly hope she and the others may enjoy many more years of happiness during the Sunset period of Life.

Slight Increase In Highway Safety During October

Thirteen highway deaths during October of this year compare with an annual average of sixteen fatalities during the month for the previous three years. With 114 road deaths at the end of ten months, Maine was 31 below last year's total of 145 for the same period. However, it is well to remember that last year was a poor one for Maine from the point of view of traffic fatalities—with 172 killed. For the same period in 1953, only 111 had lost their lives in Maine motor vehicle accidents.

Seven drivers, five passengers and one pedestrian made up October's list of highway victims. This table compares the accident situation for the first ten months with the comparable period of 1953:

	1953	1954	Chg.
Total persons killed	145	114	-31
Total fatal accidents	129	103	-26
Total motor vehicles killed	41	24	-17
Personal Inj. accid.	1350	1376	+26
Prop. damage accid.	2047	2118	+71
Persons injured	3013	3102	+89

Early darkness becomes a major factor in the traffic safety problem during November. The change back to Standard Time, coupled with the seasonal shortening of daylight hours, calls for a drastic revision of our driving habits. Most of us find ourselves driving or walking home from work under visibility conditions that have suddenly become very poor. We must adapt our driving and our walking to fit these new conditions.

Pedestrians are particularly vulnerable this month. If you are driving, be especially careful at dusk and after dark—on the lookout for those who walk. If you are walking, remember that you are the one who should be most concerned with your own safety in traffic. Don't become careless. Obey the rules and stay alert at all times.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY
The American Legion Auxiliary held their regular meeting Thursday, Nov. 11, preceded by a 6:30 supper with the Legion, and movies.

It was voted to serve a supper for the Oxford County Council, on Dec. 14, proceeds of which go to the County Council to help send a girls to Girls' State next June. The children's dresses made at the two sewing bees were on display as well as other articles ready for the Gift Box for Togs.

Delma Chapman, Hilda Donahue and Josephine Tripp were appointed on the committee for the Children's Christmas Party.

Three men and four women attended Oxford County Council at Rumford Tuesday evening. The membership chairman reported the dues are coming in. Keep this up and we will win the citations again.

Local Car Stolen; Found in Vermont; Mass. Youths Held

The 1953 Chevrolet sedan of Eugene Van Den Kerckhoven was stolen from its parking place in front of his Elm Street residence Tuesday morning and discovered that afternoon in Marshfield, Vt. Two Brookline, Mass., brothers, aged 12 and 13, were arrested there.

According to authorities the boys left Boston Monday with a stolen 1948 sedan. Abandoning that car on Route 1 before reaching Portland, they took a 1947 sedan as far as Rockland. There they stole the 1954 Hudson Hornet of Marjorie Wright of Lincolnville which ran out of gas near Guy Morgan's store in Bethel.

Tuesday morning it was discovered that the 1954 Chevrolet sedan of Richard Bryant had been ransacked evidently in search of the key. Entrance was made by forcing the side vent window and opening the door.

BETHEL REBEKAHS TO HONOR OFFICIALS

CLARENCE J. PERHAM
Clarence J. Perham died at his home, Bryant Pond, Saturday, after a short illness. He was born in Woodstock, Nov. 10, 1879, the son of Jotham and Laura Whitman Perham, and had lived there nearly all his life. He married Miss Mary French 55 years ago, on April 20. Mr. Perham had been in the building business almost 35 years and was a contractor 33 years.

He was a 32nd degree Mason in the Scottish Rite bodies, a past grand officer of the past senior grand warden, a representative of the State of Nevada to the Grand Lodge of Maine, and a past district deputy of the 16th Masonic District. He was a past Master of Jefferson Lodge, A. F. and A. M.; a member of the Royal Arch Chapter, S. M. of Norway; a member of the Strathglass Commandery of Rumford; of Jefferson Chapter, O.E.S.; the Maine District Deputies Association and the Master Plumbers Association.

He was a member of the Woodstock Board of Health many years, and served on the Woodstock School Board, 1922 to 1925.

He is survived by his widow; by a daughter, Mrs. Henry Stone, West Paris; a brother, Nelson Perham, South Woodstock; two grandsons and two nephews.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church, with Rev. Gunnar Lindahl officiating. Jefferson Lodge conducted Masonic services, with Lee Mills as Master and Frank Bean as Chaplain. Representatives were present from the Grand Lodge of Maine, Bearers were from Jefferson Lodge, Burial was at the Riverside Cemetery Annex, South Paris.

Changing Times

It would seem to be most fortunate that the great majority of us of us are not extremists. Middle of the roaders, you might say, although that is not a good place to stay long. We have in mind the "good old days," so-called, as compared with the complete run of modern "improvements."

It has been said, we know, that nothing is permanent but change. We submit that all these changes have not been 100 per cent improvement over previous conditions, in fact so much may be lost in the change that the upward percentage is comparatively small. The fact that we are powerless to affect these trends does not prevent occasional random observations on the subject.

Locally, one of the first major changes since the arrival of the railroad a hundred years ago and the advent of the oil lamp and stove, was probably the dissolution of the district school system here. This educational phase suffered its major blow with the opening of the brick school building on High Street some 60 years ago, although the independence of the school districts must have waned before that time. Certain advantages went with the passing of the small school house, which young folks of this mechanized day can but imagine.

A fragment of self-determination was lost again some 40 years ago with the adoption of the state road program. And for some time federal participation has been added. While admitting that better highways have resulted which are duly appreciated, small communities and property owners have lost rights which they had previously enjoyed as the larger governmental units have stepped in.

Another inevitable change has come to our Grand Trunk railway this fall with the arrival of diesel electric locomotives. Aware as we are of the great economy achieved, the energetic huff and puff of steam is sadly missed when only a powerful roar takes its place.

As our forefathers would have done, it is up to us to take advantage of such modern improvements as we can afford, besides those which have been thrust upon us, and make the best of it.

As Samantha Allen used to say, "of this, more anon."

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

As the result of the Supreme Court decision in the long-disputed Phillips case, the Federal Power Commission has acted to control the price of natural gas in the field. Very likely, many consumers of this widely-used fuel think that development a salutary one, which will work in their interest. But that view is vigorously disputed by many experts, who are convinced that in the interest of both consumer and producer Congress should eliminate FPC regulatory authority over the price the gas may be sold for at the well-head.

This was strongly advocated by L. F. McCullum, President of the Continental Oil Company, in a recent speech. In his view, "The oil and gas industry literally has its back to the wall in a life-and-death struggle." Further, "the public is largely unaware of how their future supplies of natural gas are in jeopardy." To implement his argument, Mr. McCullum asked and answered three basic questions: "The questions are: 1. Are the rates for gas in the field so high that the consumer needs protection by a Federal agency? 2. Will Federal controls achieve the desired end of assuring consumers of a continuing adequate supply of natural gas at reasonable prices? 3. Are regulations of this nature in the public interest and compatible with our American way of life?"

Mr. McCullum answered the first question with an unqualified No, and then told some of the economic facts of life as they apply to natural gas at the well. He stated, "The field price for the gas bears about the same relationship to the consumer's price as does the cost of water to the price of a cake of soap." The Supreme Court itself has said that the well-head price "is but a small fraction of the price paid by domestic consumers."

The major items of cost are transportation and distribution, and these elements are already under the jurisdiction of the FPC and state regulatory bodies. If nothing at all is done, the average residential consumer would see his bill reduced by less than 10 per cent, Mr. McCullum also submitted figures to show that, by comparison with other fuels, natural gas in the field "is certainly not over-priced."

To the second question, his answer was also an unqualified No. His reasons are that gas in the field is now sold competitively, prices are established by the law of supply and demand, and government efforts to artificially force prices down would ultimately result in inadequate supplies, "because the incentive to find and develop new sources is dependent upon receiving a fair price for the product." Also, he added, it would cause such new supplies as were found to be diverted to sale within the state, outside of FPC jurisdiction. Thus, the economics of other areas would suffer dislocations of "terrifying proportions."

Finally, Mr. McCullum answered the questions with another No. Production of natural gas, he stated, is a highly competitive business with "none of the characteristics of a public utility." The price of the fuel with which it competes are not regulated. To quote him again, "The present attempt to regulate natural gas is a policy which is not applied to any other fuel energy source, and which represents a radical departure from the free enterprise system that has made this country what it is today the stronghold of the free world."

GIVE $50,000 TO YOUR CHURCH

During his lifetime any man can contribute up to $50,000 to his church—in terms of money and service. That striking thought comes from Robert W. Larson, editor of the Union-Republican, Alvin, Iowa, and a Lutheran lay leader.

"If men were to give more time and money to their churches," he went on, "the influence of the Christian philosophy would rise in a dramatic and significant manner in our own community and throughout the world. . . . Some church-goers who above a five-dollar bill over the liquor store counter for a fifth of whiskey just can't seem to shake another five-spot from their fingers into their church treasuries."

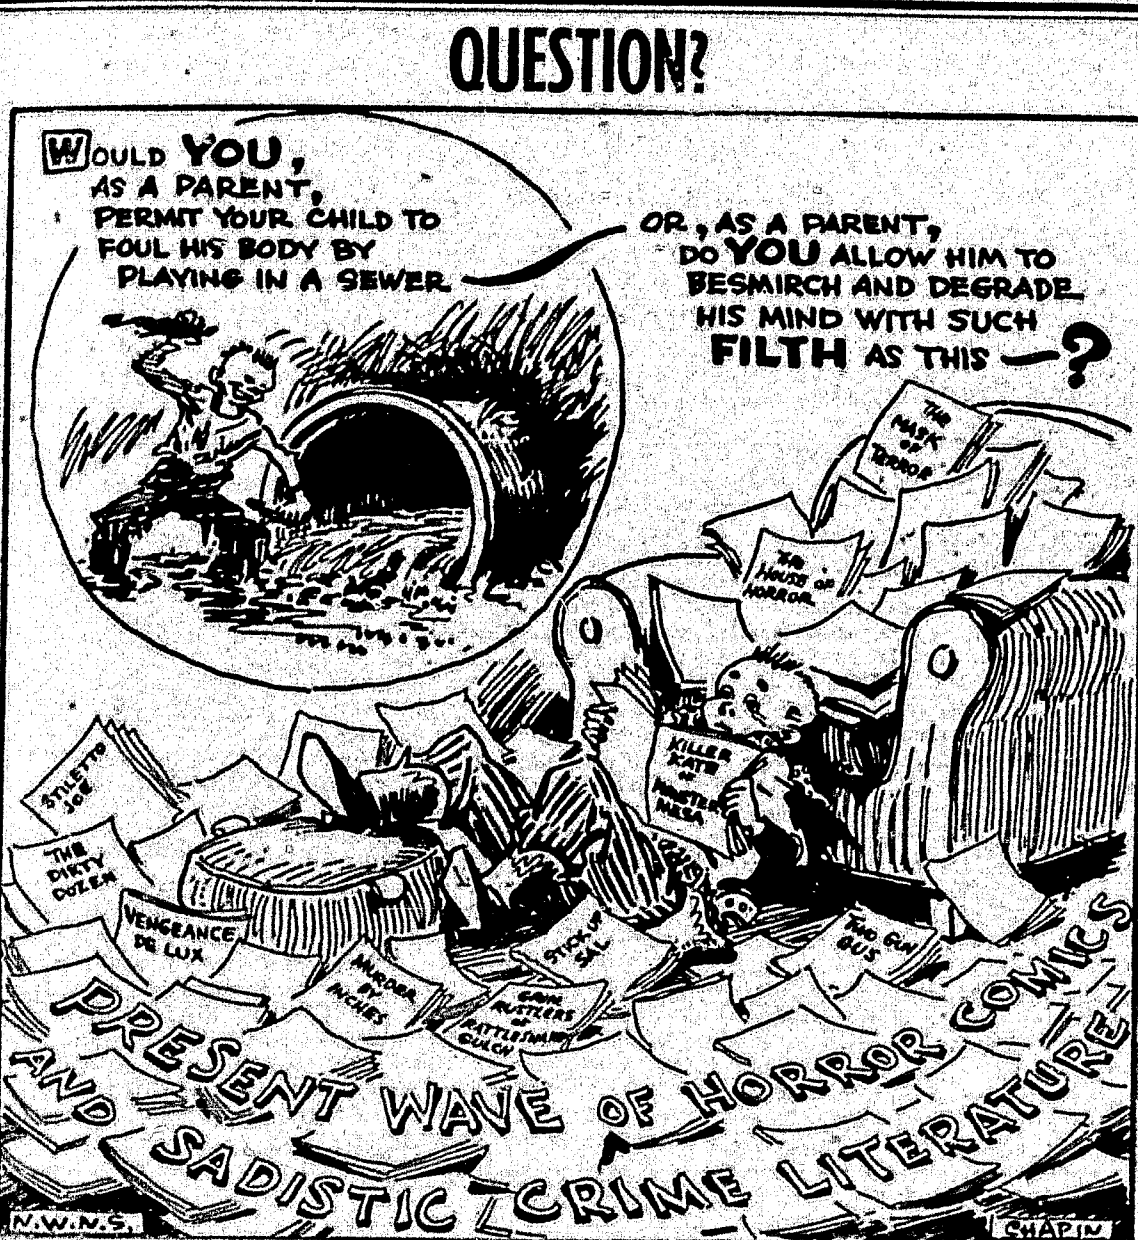

If over a sorry world was in need of a Christian resurgence, this is the time. And that demands both money and manpower.

...AND I QUOTE

Fort Pierce, Fla., News-Tribune: "There's no doubt about it, when governmental agencies—whether they be federal, state or local—go behind closed doors to conduct business, the people's interests are likely to suffer. So-called 'executive sessions' should be a danger signal to freedom-loving Americans. Many of our scandals, our international failures and troubles, our graft and abuses have their source in governmental secrecy. The people's business, whatever and wherever it be, should be conducted out in the open, aboveboard and without fear of consequences."

"The average man in the $4500 bracket works one day in every three to earn tax money alone! If he is employed on the usual 40-hour, five-day week basis, he works more hours to pay taxes than he does to meet both his housing and clothing needs." —Dover-Foxcroft (Maine) Pictorial Observer.

"In colonial days, 85 farm workers could produce just enough food for themselves and 15 other people."

Now the equation has been reversed—15 farmers raise enough for themselves and 85 others. That means that vast armies of people are able to work in factories which produce cars, radios, kitchen appliances and so on—the thousand and one things that make life better for all of us." —New Haven (Conn.) Journal-Courier.

DALE CARNEGIE

★...AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"★

FIVE YEARS ago Mrs. Earl D. Thompson, 2428 Lyndale Avenue, So., Minneapolis, Minnesota, went with her daughter Dorothy to the hospital to take home her four-month-old baby. The baby had been seriously ill with cerebral meningitis for two months and during that time they were worried and fearful. Now, more worried than ever, Mrs. Thompson wondered how the young parents would accept the tragedy in their lives, for the baby was being discharged with the verdict that they could do nothing more for her and that she would be physically and mentally crippled. The nurse wheeled her out in her hospital crib and said, "Mrs. Schell, you may dress your baby and take her home." Dorothy looked down at the pitiful little figure and breaking the sobs cried, "This isn't my baby," and her mother made a silent, fervent prayer that her baby daughter would not fall her own baby daughter.

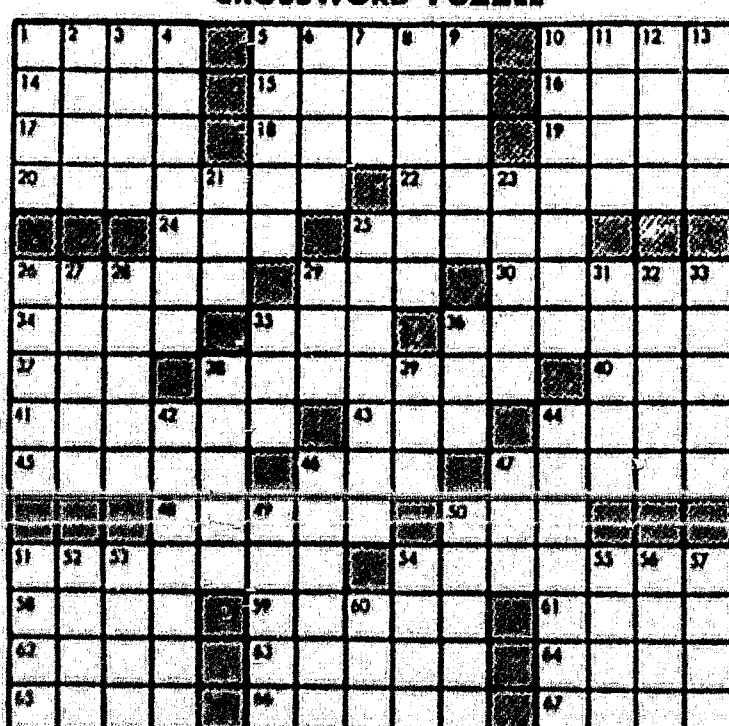

In a moment the sobbing ceased, the young mother picked up her baby and held her to her heart. She didn't know it, but in that moment her own mother knew that she had accepted the inevitable. From then on she not only accepted it but she adjusted to it and cooperated with it while her husband and her parents accepted and cooperated with her.

Today, at five and a half years, the little girl is a happy, well-adjusted child who gets around beautifully in her wheel chair and Mrs. Thompson says that the entire family has done more real living in the past five years than in all their lives previously.

SCANNING THE NEWS

THE 84th Congress, whatever its political complexion, will again tackle the controversial problem of federal aid for the nation's sick and ailing, named by its opponents as "socialized medicine," and which under the Eisenhower plan is called medical insurance.

The President has announced that he will again send his plan to the Congress for consideration, the same plan the 83rd Congress refused to enact into law.

This brings into focus the tremendous advancement which has been made during the past twenty years in so-called "fringe benefits" to the individual American citizen. The United States Chamber of Commerce lumps these benefits under four general headings . . . Social Security, Pensions, Insurance, Vacations and Sick leave. Costs of these benefits during 1953 totalled approximately $32 billion, according to an estimate made by the United States Chamber of Commerce. In 1929, for instance, the costs for the same benefits totalled only $1.5 billion.

According to the Chamber, estimates made after a statistical study, show that cost to private industry in employer payments totalled $25 billion, or an estimated 15% of the $164.9 billion total of all wages and salaries for the year.

Federal, State and local government fringe benefits were estimated at $7 billion, or 21% of wages and salaries paid to public employees.

Largest amount of the employer costs included vacations, holidays and sick leave with pay, which accounted for 5.9% of wages and salaries, or a total of $11.8 billion.

About 3.3% of wages and salaries, or $5.5 billion went for agreed payments under collective bargaining, such as pensions and insurance.

Under such programs as Social Security, unemployment compensation, workmen's compensation, government retirement and other programs the cost was approximately $3.7 billion, or 2.8% of wages and salaries. The American worker has come a long way from the days of "another day, another dollar" for 12 or more hours of work.

Action of the Federal Trade Commission in citing 17 insurance companies dealing largely in hospitalization, accident and health insurance will bring to a head the widely heard complaints about the "fine print" clauses in many insurance policies. In general the proceedings against the insurance companies are based on use of false claims or deceptive advertising relating to extent of coverage provided and benefits payable under accident and health policies and the deceptive concealment or non-disclosure of exception and limitations in the policies.

Misrepresentation is alleged in most cases on extent of coverage, when the advertising claims benefits will be paid in cases of accident or sickness generally. As a matter of fact there are many cases which policies so represented do not cover . . . such as certain nervous disorders, dental operations, venereal disease, pregnancy, childbirth, miscarriage, hernia, tuberculosis, heart disease and appendicitis.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Today I come to the topic "business." With the World Series now old stuff—the noise and confusion and commotion of the election market for the nonce—with the college yells of the autumn season cooling down, I pick up my pencil for some notes about a deserving hero, "USA Business." A good word for same comes close to being "news." So I am making news, eh? Well!

Everybody knows that business makes the mare go — everybody knows that a slow-down means that somebody's pay check has a corner clipped off — everybody knows that a pile of ties on the R R track will derail the train-to-go diesel. But scalawags will hop on the radio—stand up in the USA Senate — belittle and abuse and pile obstructions on the tracks of the business machine of this "Wonderland"—our 48 states. Nowhere has there been a place like America. Yet—with 95 out of 100 citizens knowing all this—a not-a-few find their way into important places from which to sound-off — lambast business. If they should get what they ask for, rust would bring squeaks to the grocery store hinges — put patches on threadbare garments.

Without prosperous privately owned railroads, banks, stores, oil, and the right to choose your job, where would we be? I will give you my best answer. Siberia or a

Many drivers have learned to their sorrow that wet pavement can be much more slippery and treacherous than they expected. That's a good thing to remember when the fall rains arrive. Slow down on wet roads — especially when approaching curves or intersections—warn our State Police.

Certain seasons of the year are especially dangerous from a traffic safety standpoint. Nevertheless, all seasons are dangerous. If each of us would start each day's driving with the realization that TODAY is the best time to avoid a traffic accident. . . . If we would remember that whenever we drive during each day. . . . what tremendous strides we should make in highway safety. In line with this thought, our State Police urge us to drive with care. . . . TODAY!

factum shall of such misery is the answer. It is time to tune-out the wordy, vinegary, left-handedly inclined windies cluttering our landscape.

PET PEEVE by Mike Bennett

AROUND some newspapers the word "stunt" receives popular usage in reference to the endless flood of publicity releases, advertisements and handouts.

This so-called "stunt" however, is one of the reasons newspapersmen are always so well informed. It just isn't possible for the editor to scan the stunt each day the must-to-keep it from running off the sides of his desk without picking up some thing which has of information as to how day wakes up with a liberal education. A veteran stunt reader may not have the glib tongue and sleek looks, but he sure knows a little about a lot of things.

Sometimes a stunt is interesting, mostly it's quite dull. A good portion may be funny, but very little of it makes good newspaper copy. Could be, too, that the old editor enjoys thumbing through the stuff. The only vacation he gets comes through courtesy of a release from some travel agency. He seldom reads a book but gets enough out of the reviews to make conversation with anybody. Hollywood press agents keep him up to speed on the doings of Marilyn and Ava. Experts, recognized and otherwise, send information designed to help solve personal problems, all in making decisions, even change the way of thinking.

Editor friend the other day showed me a piece which changed my thinking. It said confidently every money came from marriage bankrupts. That didn't surprise me. What did was that the article said most of the evil was that couples argued over what to do with their goods. I never suspected couples who bought food, wore clothes and paid rent had any money left to fight over.

14 MAINE 4-H MEMBERS TO GO TO CHICAGO

Fourteen Maine 4-H Club members have been selected as winners of trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago November 25 to December 2. This is one of the highest honors that can come of a Maine 4-H member.

They are Eva M. Caron, 20, of Auburn; Norris E. Conant, 17, of Canton; Alice H. Esany, 17, of South China; Nancy Finamore, 17, of Limestone; William A. Griffin, 16, of Levant; Sylvia Harris, 16, of Holden; Marvin Heddstrom, 17, of Westmanland; Ruth V. Knightly, 16, of South Paris; Elizabeth L. Mosher, 21, of Farmington; Bradlee Niles, 16, of South Bangorville; Carol F. Rollins, 16, of Garland; Sandra A. Rollins, 17, of Garland; Pamela J. Thompson, 16, of Limestone; and Francis A. Wren, 16, of East Thorside.

Norris Conant won his trip in the 4-H dairy achievement program. He's a member of the Busy Workers 4-H Club of Canton. In eight years of 4-H club work he has taken the dairy, corn, garden, beans, poultry, pig, woodworking, food preparation and lamb projects. He has won two blue ribbons at the State 4-H Club Contest, three showman's ribbons at the State Dairy Show, attended the New England Junior 4-H Club Leaders' Conference, and won several other awards, including a registered dairy calf.

Ruth Knightly, state 4-H health winner, is a member and junior leader of the Busy Workers 4-H Club, of South Paris. In her six years of 4-H work she has made 41 articles of clothing, four articles in home improvement, and has prepared food and meals. She has been a state winner in the 4-H Dairy Foods Demonstrations and has won twenty blue ribbons.

Read John 12:44-50.

Whatever I speak therefore, even as the Father said unto me, so I speak. (John 12:50)

JESUS looked upon Himself as a person through whom God, the Father, met human needs. He was gracious in His manner of meeting the physical, material, spiritual and social needs. He became for many in past centuries, and has become for us, the Christ through whom God meets the heart. In our doing of every task worthy of the name Christian, we are persons through whom God meets human needs. To be Christlike we are aware of the dual aspect of our tasks. We are interested to seek the material and in the spiritual. In our daily tasks and business, we seek to be persons through whom God can bless people. We need to do this lovingly and humbly, so that daily we be persons through whom God may touch the heart life of others and bring to them the fullness of life in Christ.

Prayer

Dear Lord, help us today to be Christlike in meeting all types of human need. Only so will it become natural for us to say something through which Thou mayest touch the hearts of others and so meet their soul needs. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Thought For The Day

Until we become channels of God for meeting the needs of others, our task is not complete.

Greenberg Sees Need for

Ten Clubs in American League. The two franchise shifts of the past two years—the latest to Kansas City—have weakened the American League, in the opinion of Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Indians. The Sporting News reports. In an effort to compensate for the moves, Greenberg will make the following proposal at the December meeting of the league in New York:

That the American League expand to a ten-team league at the earliest possible opportunity and that a committee be formed now to investigate sites for the two future franchises.

The American League constitution already permits an increase to ten clubs. Greenberg's proposal, if passed, would start action immediately toward the expansion, which he believes should be accomplished by 1956.

"There are a number of cities which want major league ball," pointed out Hank. "But they don't want to go to the $5,000,000 expense involved in building a suitable park unless they know definitely they will get a franchise."

Cities already on record as being eager for major league ball are the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, Toronto, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Houston and Montreal. All of these have sufficient population to support a mafor league franchise.

The Sporting News says that Greenberg insists, because the National League now has the better franchises, it will become stronger unless the American League takes immediate action to build for the future.

"In moving to Baltimore the American League crowded three franchises into a span of 150 miles, Baltimore drew over 1,000,000 fans, but nearby, Washington and Philadelphia both suffered huge drops. It also must be remembered that Baltimore originally talked about gates of 2,000,000, equalling Milwaukee. It fell far short. I hope Baltimore continues to draw above 1,000,000 each and proves my fears groundless. I have nothing against the city or its fine fans. I simply felt that geographically there were more advantageous locations."

"In regard to Kansas City, I sincerely believe it will outdraw Philadelphia 3 to 1 next year and also the following year. But for how long? I voted against Kansas City for only one reason: It simply doesn't have enough people."

"When you have areas holding 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 people it is wiser to take your product where the market potential is the greatest."

Greenberg admitted to The Sporting News that the move to Kansas City was the expedient one.

"A quarter's not supposed to be as good as a dollar—but it goes to church more often!"

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Tifton, Ga., Daily Gazette: "The U. S. Army, it seems, has found itself much overstocked on an item it calls 'staff study.' To quote a recent news dispatch, the Army 'makes so many staff studies it cannot keep track of them all. Sometimes two or more staffs are making the same study at the same time....' This would be very hilarious, except for one little point: It is costing the folks who pay taxes some $5,000,000 a year. This is how much could be saved, it is said, by installing a new central filing system."

Childress, Texas, Reporter: "The railroads.... own their property, their rails, their facilities, motive power and rolling stock; pay taxes in every county they traverse, and are still regulated by the government.... Their operation is expensive. Yet the railroads are paying all this expense without the help of anyone or anything except the revenue they take in from service rendered. That's what we call private enterprise and free enterprise."

"Women would make swell umpires. They'd never think a man was safe when he was out."—Fred Allen.

God's Abundance for Man's Need.
Lesson for November 21: Psalms 103: 1-5; 104: 24, 35.
Golden Text: Psalm 24: 1.

In the Thanksgiving season we may well think of the fact that God is the great Creator and the Sustainer of men and of all things that he has made. The lesson brings the thought of the personal God whose wisdom is seen in all things in his universe. As was the writer of the book of Job, the Psalmist was impressed and awed by the wonders of creation and the order by which things on the earth.

Consider the sequence of the seasons and the manner in which life is sustained for every living thing, from the least wild creature of the forest and plain to the man who is the crowning work of creation. The present writer admired the gorgeous flowers in a garden's place on St. Charles Avenue in New Orleans, and remarked upon the great development of certain kinds in recent years. The artist said, "We can only get out of them what God put into them." In developing beautiful flowers from inferior forms, we can only do so by cooperation with the laws of their own growth, as fixed by the great Creator.

Let us trust God to sustain us, as he sustained men in the ages gone with the manifold blessings of things around them. The harvest of the field is being added to by the treasures laid in the earth. And let us hope that wisdom and other elements will not be used to destroy men but to minister to the will of peace. Jesus enlarges the thought of God by teaching that God is our Father who will not turn a deaf ear to our cry.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLDTIMERS

From H. W. Springfield, Wood-bridge, Kansas: I remember when the Grand Army of the Republic (G. A. R.) held their annual camp meeting at Wadena, Minnesota. I was a boy then. I remember the camp was on a hillside with General Van Dusen who was one of the boys. They were something of a small army as they marched down the streets of Wadena. They would treat an ox at the celebration and the year a neighbor of mine carried the ox tail over his shoulder in the parade. At the celebration they sold lemonade from a large stone jar at 5 cents a glass.

From Jessamine B. Bergum, Arden, N. D.: I remember when everyone looked forward for months to "going to the State Fair." Transportation was either a one-horse buggy or a fringed-top surrey, or— if the family was large—a three-wheeled lumber wagon. My parents drove a fringed-top phaeton—but, oh joy—sometimes the current young man (if he had the courage and the cash) drove to our door in a top buggy with two prancing horses from the "livery barn."

We were equal to the occasion with a "Gibson Girl" stylish costume, white shirtwaist, puffed sleeves and lace insertion, full dark skirt, high button shoes—and black cotton stockings. The skirts swept the ground, for ankles were not to be seen.

GOULD ACADEMY

The November 1954 issue of "Forecast" a national magazine devoted to the interests of home economists features an article on the Gould Academy Home Economics Department. The physical facilities of the department and various projects carried on throughout the year receive special coverage. This is one in a series of articles published in "Forecast" which are designed to call special attention to outstanding departments in this field in the nation.

Howard Brush has been elected captain of the football team for 1955. Thanksgiving vacation at the Academy will begin at noon on Tuesday, Nov. 23. Boarding students are scheduled to return on Sunday Nov. 28 and classes will resume at 8:10 a. m., Nov. 29.

The members of the Gould Future Homemakers of America with their supervisor, Miss Mary Whitney, were guests of the Norway Chapter, Friday afternoon and evening, Nov. 12. The theme was to "Know Your Neighbor." Iva Rugg, State Projects Chairman, presided over the convention to organize the new division of "District 8."

Arlene Chase, a member of the Junior class, was one nominee for

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

In Russia almost no one may own his own home. Regardless of income, no factory worker, doctor, chemist, engineer, government worker or farmer may own his own home unless he is especially privileged by the government. The average member of the Soviet State has no choice of where he may live nor has he the privilege of choosing the type and quality of his abode. The state owns the factories, the farms, the homes and apartment houses. Practically all Russian citizens must be lifelong renters from the State.

In the United States over 50 per cent of the population own their own homes. In contrast to State control and ownership in Russia, the government of the United States owns only approximately 5 per cent of the home and apartment dwellings. Even that is too many. In Russia only 1% of the population has a standard of living comparable to that of the American factory or office worker or farmer. Only 1 per cent of the citizens of the Soviet State have radios, television sets, bathtubs, refrigerators, electrical equipment, vacuum cleaners or automobiles.

The average American takes his many comforts and conveniences for granted. The average American housewife becomes annoyed when the plumbing breaks down and the plumber delays in repairing the pipes. In Russia housewives are spared this inconvenience because there are few pipes or plumbing systems in households throughout Russia. The lowest paid factory worker in America lives in luxury, splendor and magnificence compared to the Russian worker.

Within the Soviet Union the prices on butter and eggs, shoes and overcoats has risen at a much faster rate than earnings. The standard of living has steadily dropped. Regardless of what income bracket we belong to, in America we still have a variety to choose from when we select an apartment—be it a car, a dress or a vacuum cleaner. There is variety in price, quality and kind. In America we can still worship and hope according to our own convictions.

Mail time is an exciting time. However, this very excitement can be a contributing factor in causing some of us to forget to be careful. In rural areas many people, young and old, must cross the highway to get to their mailboxes. Sometimes they are not as careful as they might be. Our State Police ask all of us to be conscious of this danger. They ask us to wait until we are well off the road before we start to read the mail, glance at the envelopes or the headlines in the paper. They ask drivers to be alert for those who forget this safety rule and to make sure that their own impatient, careless driving doesn't bring disaster in the form of a pedestrian-car crash.

The new malathion sprays and baits, if used properly, offer an effective means of controlling flies in poultry houses. So says Frank D. Reed, Maine Extension Service poultry specialist.

the office of Vice-Chairman.

The other chapters present were: Buckfield, Wilton, South Paris, Norway, Livermore Falls, Farmington, Rumford, Mexico, Fryeburg, Leavitt Institute.

The members that represented our chapter were: Iva Rugg, Arlene Chase, Anna Chandler, Clea Waldron, Shirley Mason, Judy Andrews, Beverly Currier, Jane Yeaton, Nancy Hibbard, Mary Guild, Joan Campbell, Lorita York, Mary Bennett, Eleanor Moody, Beverly Soper, Suzie Ingalls, and Barbara Hulbert.

A good time was enjoyed by all who participated in making this convention a success.

Gould Academy, although set back 100 yards on penalties, had little trouble defeating Fryeburg Academy in the final game of the season for both teams on Saturday, Nov. 6. Gould scored once in each of the first two stanzas and twice in third. In the fourth period Howard Brush intercepted a Fryeburg pass and raced 31 yards to score only to have the play nullified by a Gould clipping penalty.

Gould kicked off and Fryeburg made a first down but was soon forced to punt to Rowe on the 32 yard line. In just 5 plays the Huskies had covered 68 yards. A 28 yard dash by Burnham helped set up the T. D. and then he went 33 yards off the end for the first score.

Late in the first quarter Verne Corkum recovered a Fryeburg fumble on his own 48 yard line. In 10 plays Gould again reached pay dirt. It was through steady gains by Crane and Burnham that the ball reached the 10 yard line. Here it was given to Lamson who scumpered around end to score standing up. There was no more scoring and the half ended 12-0.

Fryeburg kicked off to Gould to resume play. Burnham took the ball on the 20 yard line and with nice running carried to the 40. It took Gould only 12 plays to cover the 64 yards as Burnham plunged over from the 4 yard line for his second T. D. An 11 yard run by Crane and a Burnham to Rowe pass for 10 yards helped set up the third score.

Fryeburg took the kick-off and immediately ran off a first down but then Osgood in trying to pass was thrown for an 8 yard loss. On the next play a fumble deep in the Fryeburg backfield was recovered by Bragg on the 32 yard line.

On the first play with a double reverse and pass from Burnham to Rowe, Gould went 32 yards to score. It was the final tally of the day. All four extra points failed as two were blocked, one was wide, and another struck the cross bar and failed to go over.

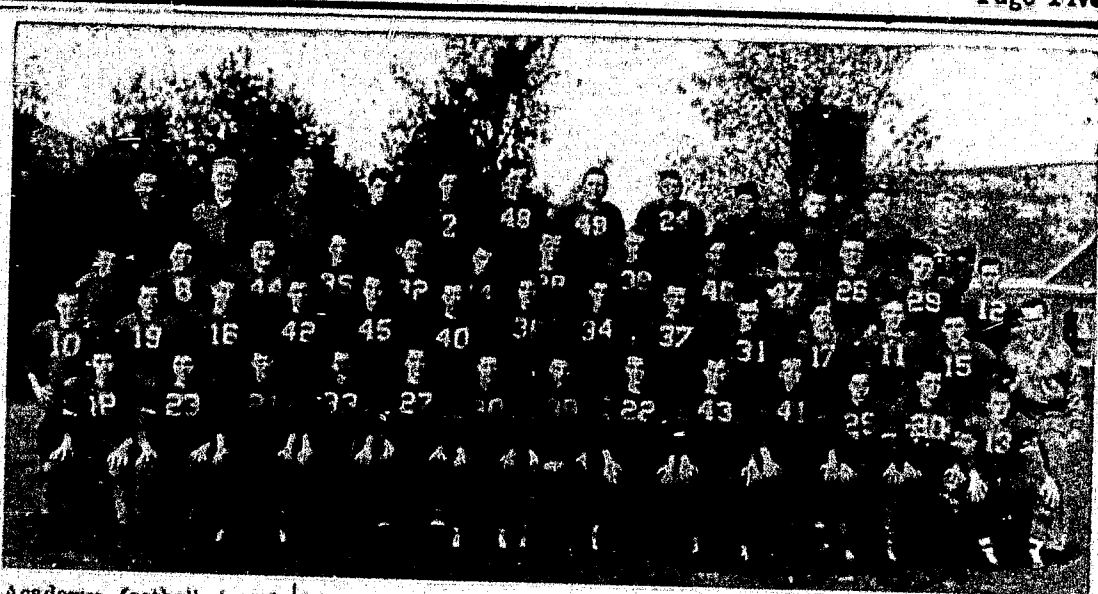

Gould made 14 first downs to 10 for Fryeburg. The visitors looked strong at midfield but their attack always bogged down and they never threatened. Fryeburg passed 10 times with 3 good for 61 yards and one was intercepted. Gould kept to its running attack in the first half but in the second half they passed 6 times and all of them were good for 70 yards, including one T. D.

Burnham had one of his best days as he raced for long gains, scored twice, and heaved one pass for another. Rowe also came thru with some fine runs while Crane and Lamson did a great job playing for Roberts and Jim Murphy. Hammond, the visiting fullback, was the best ground gainer for Fryeburg, although Osgood performed well and was always a threat with his passing.

The entire Gould line played good ball at times but there were times also when Fryeburg backs dashed through big holes for considerable gains.

It was a neat victory to finish a fine season for the Huskies who now have wins over South Paris, Norway, Lyndon Institute, and Fryeburg Academy. Their two defeats were a 6-0 set-back by an excellent Mexico team and a 26-7 loss to Class "1" Cheverus High of Portland.

Summary: Gould 134—Daley 16, Bragg 16, Walton 16, Brush 16, Russell 16, Hill 16, V. Corkum 16, Rowe 16, Burnham 16, Lamson 16.

Gould Academy football team's season record: Gould 27, South Paris 0; Gould 27, Norway 0; Gould 14, Lyndon, Vt. 13; Gould 0, Mexico 6; Gould 7, Cheverus 28; Gould 24, Fryeburg 0.

Fryeburg Academy (0)—Filla 16, Wallace 16, Lecman 16, Currier 6, Ivy 16, Morton 16, Edwards 16, Osgood 16, Dinsmore 16, Buzzell 16, Hammond 16.

Touchdowns: Gould—Burnham 2, Lamson, Rowe.

A delegation of the Gould Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America participated in a dinner meeting of Oxford County delegations at South Paris on Friday.

Charles Sewall, Educational Director of Burdett College, Boston, Mass., gave a very interesting address on the subject of "The Right Job for You" in assembly recently. Mr. Sewall illustrated his lecture with slides showing the importance of such characteristics as leadership, accuracy, honesty, dependability, and others and the role which they play in gaining and retaining the right kind of job.

John Chase was elected captain of the cross country team for the 1955 season.

LOCKE MILLS

Mrs. Mary Mills, Corres. —

The Community Club met at the town hall on November 10 for the regular meeting with 21 members and four visitors present. It was decided to ask the Men's Club to have a Christmas tree erected on the Common next month. The business meeting will be omitted at the next meeting, and there will be a pot luck supper at six o'clock for members and their families followed by a Christmas tree. Committee appointed in charge of the supper is Jeannette Kimball, Myra Jordan and Louise Twitchell. The committee in charge of the tree and gifts is as follows: Charlotte Cole, Helena Bartlett and Ethel Martin. Bertha Flanders and Mary Andrews were appointed as nominating committee to select candidates for officers. The mystery package was received by Mary Andrews. After the meeting, Mrs Annie Stowell demonstrated her method of making Christmas wreaths. She made very pretty wreaths. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge, Lora Noyes, Stella Howe, and Bertha Davis.

Mr and Mrs Leroy Day are the parents of a daughter, Mary Elizabeth, born at the Rumford Hospital, Nov. 9. Mrs Day returned to her home, Nov. 12.

A loaf of bread, an hour's worship—both are better shared

"Not by bread alone —"

You know yourself there's a good deal more to keeping a home and a family happy than just paying the bills.

It's doing things together

Piling into the car for a day's outing . . . raking leaves on an autumn afternoon . . . having a barbecue in your own backyard.

Going to worship together every week is another of the good things in life which are best shared. Think back over the years. Remember when you were a youngster, how important and grown-up you felt walking into your church or synagogue with your folks. It was a nice feeling, wasn't it? Surely you want to do as well for your family, this week.

Without even trying, you'll provide a pattern, a foundation, a way of living, that will guide the lives of your children years from now. And if there is a happy life, what warmer tribute could you have?

He restoreth your soul...

Worship together this week
